Construction Industry Induction Training (White Card)

Course Outline

This course is to be used throughout Australia to meet the requirements of general WHS induction training program specified by the National Code of Practice for Induction Training for Construction Work (ASCC2006). The Unit is designed to meet WHS regulatory authority requirements for WHS induction and must be achieved before access to any building and construction worksite.

This course is for any person wishing to enter the construction industry. Under NT WorkSafe requirements, all persons participating in onsite activities in the building and construction industry must undertake Construction Induction Card training. The course is offered to individuals seeking employment or who are currently employed within the industry but require the nationally accredited unit of competency CPCWHS1001 Prepare to work safely in the construction industry. Re-training may be required by employers where circumstances indicate the need, e.g. upon re-entry, after an absence of two consecutive years.
